ESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (II known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Beers House is a rectangular brick structure of three stories crowned by an Italianate bracketed cornice and shallow hipped roof. The house as originally built was two and-a-half stories with a gable roof and dormers; the third story was added by the Beers family in 1860. Although the alteration was sympathetic with the original architecture, the change is apparent upon examination of the brickwork. The facade of the house is three-bays wide with the front door located in the bay nearest College Street. The door is enriched by sidelights and pilasters, and is framed by a finely executed porch containing coupled Greek Doric columns. Though indifferently maintained, most of the interior features, including a fine early staircase, remain generally intact. The small yard in front of the house is enclosed by an iron fence set in a brick retaining wall.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE (Include Personages, Dates, Events, Etc.)

This Greek Revival townhouse was built in 1839 by William Beers, a merchant tailor, and was owned by the Beers family until 1872. The only other family who lived there for any length of time was the Morris Nelson family who owned the house from 1883 until 1909. In 1965 the house was acquired by the Medical College of Virginia which now uses it for offices.

While the Beers House is not especially distinguished in a historic sense, its location on the corner of College and Broad Streets make it an integral link in a group of historic buildings in the Medical College of Virginia area. Directly above the Beers House, on Broad Street, is Monumental Church; below it is the African Baptist Church; and behind it is the Egyptian Building. The Beers House is also the last remaining early house on Broad Street west of Shockhoe Valley.
